THE DAFFODILS.

By WORDSWORTH.

The poem that we print to-day shows perhaps as well as anything Wordsworth ever wrote his wonderful appreciation of nature and his power for laying hold of those beauties that are only seen by the inward eye.

The biographical sketch of Wordsworth, together with his portrait, has already appeared in this series.

I WANDER'D lonely as a cloud
That floats on high o'er vales and hills,
When all at once I saw a crowd,
A host of golden daffodils,
Beside the lake, beneath the trees,
Fluttering and dancing in the breeze.

Continuous as the stars that shine
And twinkle on the milky way,
They stretch'd in never-ending line
Along the margin of a bay:
Ten thousand saw I at a glance
Tossing their heads in sprightly dance.

The waves beside them danced, but they
Outdid the sparkling waves in glee:—
A Poet could not but be gay
In such a jocund company!
I gazed—and gazed—but little thought
What wealth the show to me had brought;

For oft, when on my couch I lie
In vacant or in pensive mood,
They flash upon that inward eye
Which is the bliss of solitude;
And then my heart with pleasure fills,
And dances with the daffodils.

DAILY FASHION HINTS.

GIRL'S RUSSIAN DRESS.

No. 4535.—A style that is equally becoming to small boys and girls is shown in this model, with a diagonal closing in the front. The back is plain, and the dress is worn with a shield, although for warm weather the dress would be pretty without shield or collar. The model is very simple in construction, and the dress is one that can be laid out flat in laundering. The closing may be invisible, or buttons could be used. The finishing sleeve is finished by a little turnover cuff. Lace or any kind of material might be used for shield and collar, and a pretty idea is to have a number of them in washable materials of different kinds and colors, by which a little frock may be worn derfully freshened up by simply a change in collar. Any material, usually employed, such as madras, gingham, plique, Indian and cashmere or mohair, might be used. Medium size requires three and a half yards, thirty-six inches wide. Sizes—Three, four, five, six, seven, eight and nine years. On receipt of 10 cents this pattern will be sent to any address. All orders must be directed to THE LITTLE FOLKS PATTERN CO., No. 73 Fifth Avenue, New York. When ordering, please do not fail to mention number. No. 4535.

SENSIBLE POSITION

Senator Hoar Says Appointments in South Should be Lifted From Politics.

SENATOR CLAY COMMENDS

Agrees Fully With Such a Principle—Many Errors Would be Avoided.

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, D. C., March 23.—The Senate again spent the greater part of the day considering the Indian appropriation bill. Three hours of the time was given to the discussion of a claim of $60,000 for services rendered the Choctaw Indians, and the amendment was defeated. "The civil service debate was renewed, and there was considerable discussion of the policy to be pursued in securing employees for work on the Panama Canal. The bill was still under consideration when the Senate adjourned.

Mr. Gorman, discussing the civil service, said the President, in his instructions to the Ishman Canal Commission, had receded from his advanced position on the general application of the civil service principles. No one had ever supposed originally, he said, that the principle would be applied to minor places as it had been. He wanted the door opened to the small places, "as it has now been opened to the President to all who can live on the isthmus of Panama and do work in connection with the canal."

AGAINST THE UNIONS.

Frederick W. Job Makes Serious Charges Before Committee.

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, March 23.—In a discussion of the confusion which opponents of the eight-hour bill declared would follow the enactment of that measure in the case of the country represented by the Farmers' Union of Chicago, to-day said to the Senate Committee on Education and Labor that he did not believe the labor leaders of the country represented the real views of the rank and file of workmen, organized or unorganized. Mr. Job called attention to labor troubles where non-union men had been beaten down with clubs or shot, and said the official organs of organized labor never had confined a word of denunciation of these crimes.

Daniel A. Tompkins, of North Carolina, was questioned in regard to child labor in the South, and answered that the manufacturing interests of the South were now recovering from the labor restrictions caused by the slavery. Slavery was a form of restriction, he said, but the improvement for all classes in the South was progressing and would work out satisfactorily without legislation better than with it.

VICTORY FOR RAILROADS.

Interstate Commerce Commission Decides in Their Favor.

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, March 23.—In the case of the Chamber of Commerce of Chattanooga against the Southern and other railroads, involving alleged discrimination in freight rates against Chattanooga and in favor of Nashville on traffic from eastern cities, the Interstate Commerce Commission to-day announced its decision in favor of the railroads.

The Commission decides that the traffic from New York and other eastern points be carried to Nashville and Chattanooga under substantially different conditions; that the higher rate to Chattanooga is not unlawful or unreasonable and cannot be condemned merely because a lower rate is granted to Nashville.

TRYING TO AVOID IT.

Effort Being Made to do Without Impeding Judge Swayne.

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, D. C., March 23.—A member of the House Committee on the Judiciary has prepared a bill looking to a consolidation of the Northern and Southern Judicial Districts of Florida. This expedient is proposed to legislate Judge Charles Swayne out of office and avoid the necessity for impeaching him. There is serious objection to this plan among many members of the House. It is stated in opposition to the plan that even if the district should be abolished, Judge Swayne would still be entitled to his salary as judge, and that it would simply work a hardship on the people of the district and on the judges for the Southern District of the State.

Justice Clabaugh, of District of Columbia, Declines to Pass on It.

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, D. C., March 23.—Justice Clabaugh, of Circuit Court No. 2, of the District of Columbia, declined to pass on the constitutionality of the Jim Crow car law of Virginia, to-day, and the case was sent to a jury. He decided that the law must be accepted as passed by the Virginia Legislature, and left the jury to pass on the facts.

Nelson S. Spencer is suing the Washington, Alexandria and Mount Vernon Railway Company to recover $10,000 damages, because of his arrest for refusing to obey the order of a conductor, who tried to eject him from the colored car between this city and Alexandria.

The conductor to whom the power of arrest was given by the law is given by the statute, did not exactly make the arrest, but when the car reached Washington Spencer was pointed out to two policemen as the man charged with the offense and they took him in charge without the formality of a warrant.

The question appears to have narrowed down to one of liability of the railway company in damages for the arrest of Spencer.

Would Hurt the South.

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, March 23.—The House Committee on Labor listened to-day to an argument against the eight-hour bill by Fuller E. Calloway, treasurer of the Unity cotton mill at LaGrange, Ga. The enactment of the bill would, he said, affect the cotton industry of the South adversely, even, because of its infancy, it should be encouraged.

READY FOR INSPECTION.

A Million Pounds of Tobacco Diverted by Smallpox.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) CHASE CITY, VA., March 23.—Invitations have been issued to the marriage of Miss Nora Orion Saunders, of this place, to Mr. George W. Prince, an official of the Life Insurance Company of Virginia, at St. John's Church, Petersburg, Va., on April 6th.

Rev. Frank Stringfellow will officiate.

The Mecklenburg Guards, Captain Adam T. Finch, have received their uniforms, rifles and other equipments, and are regularly drilled, preparatory to the inspection by Captain Johnson, Fifteenth United States Cavalry, on the 31st instant. The company had a large number of spectators last night to witness their evolutions, and made a very creditable appearance.

It is estimated that nearly a million of pounds of leaf tobacco was diverted from this market during the recent smallpox fight in January and February. Now it is coming in large quantities every day from all the scope of the country tributary to this market, and the prices paid here attract it from sections previously selling a tother places. The demand here is large, and must be supplied, and the tobacco men are alive to the importance and necessity of regaining their losses. There are no groves among them.

The public roads have been more passable this winter than for many previous years. But there is room for more improvement. To expedite farm dirt roads, after rain and freeze would be looking for an impossible condition.

Dr. Burwell showed me two of his recovered cases of smallpox to-day, which illustrated the potency of vaccination before he contracted the disease and had scarcely any marks or pits on him. He stated that he was not sick enough to remain long in bed. The other one, not vaccinated, was "very chafed" and pitted, and had a very long time. It is amazing that any person should refuse to be vaccinated when facts and results establish the efficacy of Jenner to be unquestionably efficacious.

Mr. W. C. Johnson, connected with Agnew and Sons, of Richmond, has sold his farm, in the lower end of the county, bought a lot here, and is erecting an elegant residence.

"I had read of the numerous cures made by Paine's Celery Compound, and finally decided to try it. From the start the benefit which I derived was marked. After taking three bottles I feel that I am entirely cured."—MRS. S. A. ADLER, 343 North Fourth Street.
